HARDMAN TRIAL SET FOR TOMORROW

Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock was agreed on as the time for the examining trial of Scobee Hardman, accused of the murder of Leon Renaker, Blue Grass "turkey king."

This announcement was made following a conference of Hardman's counsel, Judge J. Smith Hayes and Hervey Lisle, with County Attorney Herbert Moore, County Judge Scobee and other officials.

The defense would be ready by Tuesday, according to reports, but Wednesday was agreed on, as the commonwealth must summon a number of witnesses, Mr. Moore said, some from Bourbon county and others from Cincinnati.

Young Hardman, in the Clark county jail, at Winchester, where he was taken from Lexington, still refuses to discuss the charges against him, referring questioners to his attorneys.

Police Judge Scrivner was agreed on to sit in the case, as County Judge R. S. Scobee refused to sit, due to the fact he is a relative of Hardman. Hardman stated that he is confident of his acquittal, but other than that refuses to talk about the case.

It is not known whether the defendant will ask for a secret examining trial, to which he is entitled under Section 63 of the Kentucky Criminal Law.

Detective Ora Slater left Saturday for Cincinnati. The nature of his mission is not known, but it is thought that he is getting a new angle on the case. The general attitude of the people in Winchester seems to be "a man is innocent until he is proven guilty."

Since his arrest, which occurred fifteen days after the discovery of one of Kentucky's most mysterious murders, young Hardman has maintained a cheerful silence regarding his arrest and the charge against him.

When seen at the Winchester jail Saturday, following his return to that city after spending twenty-four hours in the Fayette county jail, Hardman appeared in good spirits and said he had had a good night's rest.

He said there is nothing remarkable about him keeping up his courage "because an innocent man has nothing to fear." In giving a reason for keeping silent Hardman said to a newspaper representative "if a man doesn't tell anything he has nothing to take back."

PARISIANS EN ROUTE TO HONOLULU.

Special to THE BOURBON NEWS.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 14.—Among those booked to sail on the Matson Line steamer, "Maui," for Honolulu, August 23, are W. Renick Smith, grandson of Mrs. W. H. Renick, of Paris, Ky., and his mother, Mrs. Curtis P. Smith, formerly of Dallas, Texas, but who will be remembered in Kentucky as Miss Annie Renick.

Mr. Smith is starting his Oriental tour at Honolulu and expects to visit Japan, China, India and Egypt. He is going abroad as the official press representative of the Far East Players, Inc., a dramatic organization, headed by Miss Adele Blood, star of famous "Everywoman."

Miss Blood and T. Daniel Frawley, producer and actor are associated in the production of a number of the latest Broadway successes in the Orient. Mr. Frawley has made a dozen or more tours of the Far East.

Among the plays to be offered over there are Anna Christie, The Gold Diggers, The First Year, La La Lucille, Pom Pom, Innocent, The Guilty Man, Enter Madame, Kempy, Lawful Larceny, Smilin' Through, and others.

Mrs. Curtis P. Smith will accompany her son for the trip. They will travel ahead of the troupe a great part of the time. Mr. Smith was reared in Texas, but is a native of Bourbon county, and has visited his aunt, Mrs. James Duncan Bell, in Paris, numerous times.

The Oriental tour of the Far East Players will cover a period of seven months.

ETHEL CLAYTON IN "THE CRADLE," THURSDAY

Ethel Clayton in latest Paramount picture, "The Cradle," will be the feature at the Alamo, Theatre and Paris Grand, Thursday afternoon and evening. This is a picture that provokes the question, "Is it fair to a child for a husband and wife to separate?" Financial worries and too much mother-in-law, cause the husband, a young doctor, to yield to the charms of another woman—a wealthy daughter of the idle rich. A divorce. The husband marries the other woman, and the wife a lawyer who was a former suitor. Then follow many interesting incidents.

Charles Meredith is leading man and heads an excellent supporting cast of players.

THE STRIKE SITUATION

Locally the strike situation has not developed anything out of the ordinary, and the men are awaiting the results of conferences in progress by their National leaders and the Labor Board.

W. H. Brown, vice-President of the International Brotherhood of Railroad Shop Crafts, spoke at the court house Friday night to a crowd which taxed the capacity of the big Circuit Court room, taking as his subject: "Why The Shopmen Are On Strike." Mr. Brown was introduced by S. Jewell Rice, Lexington attorney, who stated in his introductory remarks that Mr. Brown had been brought to Paris to place before the people the real issue in the railroad strike situation.

Mr. Brown stated that this strike was not a strike for definite wages, but a fight between human rights and property rights. He said that the rights of workmen to live respectably and to properly educate their children and to create better conditions for the posterity was in conflict with the plan of Wall street to make millionaires of railroad magnates and relegate the mass of people to the poor house. He stated that the railroads were arguing that the strikers were outlaws, but that they forgot to state that it is positively known that ninety-two railroads in 104 cases violated the transportation act. He stated that during the war, when men were supposed to be doing philanthropic acts for the government, 12,000 new millionaires were made, and that the new democracy is worse than the old.

Mr. Brown, in referring to local conditions, said the strike-breakers on the job here wouldn't work a day at honest toil in a pie factory. He said that outside of the men on strike there were not enough craftsmen to man one railroad, and cited in his own way it was necessary for the railroads to take back their old experienced men. Mr. Brown's speech was a masterful presentation of the strikers' side of the present affair, and was full of able, convincing arguments for the justice of their cause. One statement in the course of his speech which brought forth applause from the big crowd was to the effect that "organized labor is composed of 5,000,000 members, from the lowest craftsman to the most skilled men in the world to-day." His address was along the lines of the evolution of labor from its beginning to the present time and the very important part labor unions play in bettering the condition of the laboring man.

The railway executives of the country Sunday night made public their response to President Harding's last strike settlement proposal in which it was stated that a majority of the executives in their meeting at New York, Friday, voted to give striking shop crafts workers their old jobs if vacant, or if filled; similar work pending determination of seniority by the Railroad Labor Board.

The executives' committee, which came to Washington, Saturday, and delivered to President Harding their response to his last settlement proposal and later met with chiefs of the train service brotherhoods, let it be known that no further conferences of any kind were planned.

The announcement was described by one spokesman for the executives as meaning "a fight to the finish" in the existing strike so far as the railroad managements were concerned.

Railroad executives who have represented all their associates in negotiating over Saturday and Sunday with President Harding and railroad strike left Washington convinced that the present strike would be fought out to a finish.

The executives further indicated, through an authorized spokesman, that they expected the government would not attempt further compromise in the situation and make public the text of their answer to President Harding's final settlement proposal.

Union leaders, however, declared that mediation and compromise efforts would still be continued with officials of the four brotherhoods or train service men acting as a committee to go between the striking shop craft representatives on the one hand and the government or the railroads on the other.

The walkout was ordered because the trainmen claimed armed guards at the Louisville and Nashville shops were endangering their lives.

They also claimed that they were being required to operate defective equipment in violation of the law and thus also endangering their lives.

Trainmen who walked out yesterday morning declared that their action was not a strike. They said they simply had refused to work until conditions were made safe.

GETTING READY FOR THE BOOSTER TRIP

Plans are rapidly being formulated for the Booster day trip, which the merchants of Paris will put into effect on Wednesday, August 30. The itinerary will include every section of the county. As far as the plans have been worked out, they have given satisfaction to the various committees having charge of the details.

According to present plans the boosters will arrive at Millersburg at noon, and take dinner on the campus of the Millersburg Military Institute. The dinner will be served by the ladies of the Millersburg Presbyterian church, who will prepare to serve about three hundred people. Those who have subscribed to the Booster Trip have been furnished with one ticket each to the dinner, and any person who would like to motor to Millersburg for the dinner and speaking may secure a dinner ticket for 75 cents from Secretary Harold Harris, of the Paris Commercial Club. The list of firms who have subscribed for the trip includes the names of nearly every merchant in Paris.

CHARGED WITH MALICIOUS CUTTING

Will Scott, colored, janitor in the First National Bank building, was severely stabbed and wounded in chest and back yesterday morning by Wm. H. Whaley. A warrant based on affidavits made by Scott, charging Whaley with malicious cutting and wounding, was sworn out by County Attorney D. D. Cline and given to Patrolman Robert Lusk to serve.

Scott, according to the story told yesterday, had received orders from the bank officials to lock the lobby doors and to allow on one to enter before the opening of banking hours. Whaley came to the bank early yesterday morning, and being refused admission by Rice, became angry and drawing a knife, inflicted two deep stab wounds, one in the chest, and one in the back.

SOME PEACHES

A small peach tree in the back yard at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Fee, on Fifth street, is some producer of the luscious fruit. Mrs. Fee recently gathered fourteen peaches, averaging 9½ inches in diameter from the tree which sprang uncultivated from a seed carelessly tossed into a pile of cinders and earth in the yard. The peaches are of the clingstone variety. The tree had never borne fruit until struck by lightning about a year ago, which is thought to have started it into producing.

TRAINS DELAYED BY WRECK

North bound train No. 32, on the Louisville and Nashville, due at Paris at 6:50 Saturday night, was seven hours late, due to a freight wreck at Sinks, near Livingston, when a double-header engine and ten loaded cars were thrown down a fifty-foot embankment. Fireman Charles Rice, of Livingston, was seriously injured. The front engine jumped the track, due, it was said, to a defective rail, and raced along the ties for two hundred feet. The wrecking crews were called out and had the wreckage cleared so that traffic was resumed Sunday.

NEWS OF THE COURTS

In the County Court Mrs. Margaret Davis was appointed as administratrix of the estate of her deceased husband, W. L. Davis, who died in this city the past week. Mrs. Davis accepted the appointment and qualified for the trust by furnishing bond in the sum of $6,000, with her sister, Mrs. John T. Hinton, as surety. Buckner Woodford, William Myall and Jos. W. Davis were appointed to appraise the estate.

MORGAN'S MEN REUNION AT LEXINGTON

Mrs. Ida Hamilton Stoner, of Mt. Sterling, widow of the late Col. Robt. G. Stoner, of Paris, was in this city yesterday, en route to Lexington, to attend the annual reunion of Morgan's Men, of which her husband was an honored member. Mrs. Stoner claims the distinction of being the only surviving widow of a Morgan's Men member. Every year it has been her pleasant duty to pin flowers on the lapels of the veterans.

Members of the association will be guests to-day and to-morrow of the Lexington Country Club on invitation of Senator J. W. Stoll, Desha Breckinridge and Dr. S. H. Halley. The annual reunion will open this morning. Their numbers have been sadly decimated by the passage of years and only a few score of veterans are expected to be present.

There will be no formal program at the reunion this year. Following the usual custom, it will be a reunion in the real sense of the word, the recalling to mind of incidents and associations of campaign days being the feature of the two-days session.

INVESTMENT PROPERTY FOR SALE

PRISONER ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

Unsuccessful in an attempt to break jail, Nelson Porter, colored, confined in the Paris jail on a charge of grand larceny, attempted suicide by hanging himself from a rope made of bed covers which he had torn into strips. Other prisoners saw the attempt and called Jailer Taylor, who rescued him before the deed became effective. He was placed in solitary confinement. Porter's peculiar actions both before and since his incarceration have been of a nature, according to the officials to warrant his trial on lunacy proceedings.

Another negro, serving out a fine at hard labor in the county rock quarry for crap shooting, made his escape, but returned the next day accompanied by a white man, who agreed to become responsible for the payment of his fine, and the negro was released from custody.

ON THE PLAYGROUNDS

The girls' baseball team from the City School playgrounds will play the Brennan playground team on the latter's grounds Tuesday afternoon. The boys' team will meet the Wilson team and the Brennan team on Wednesday. Thursday afternoon the picked team will play the Duncan Park team from Lexington on Hancock Field. The Paris team will line up as follows: Hickey, Crawford, p; Parsons, c; Reese, 1b; Strauther, ss; J. B. Myers, 2b; McMahan, 3b; Buddy Hinton, cf; Julian Howe, Jr.; rf; Russell Horton, lf.

Friday morning the kindergarten, conducted by Miss Miriam Galloway, will have a doll party. The Feast of the Lanterns and a masquerade party will be held at the City School grounds Friday evening at seven o'clock. The children are all invited to come and bring a lantern, and be sure to have a candle. A prize will be given to the child wearing the most original costume, the best hand-made lantern, and the most beautiful Japanese bought lantern.

Entries are coming in for the tennis tournament to be held the last week in this month. Two handsome trophies have been donated by Mrs. Robt. C. Talbott and Dr. M. H. Dailley. Only ladies' doubles and men's doubles will be played, the winners playing their partners for the trophy. A consolation match will be played also.

COMMUNITY SERVICE PICNIC LABOR DAY, SEPT. 4.

Monday, September 4, Labor Day, is destined to be a red-letter day in the history of Paris. On that day the Paris Commercial Club and the Community Service proposes holding the largest and best picnic in the history of the county. The beautiful woodland of Forrest Letton, on the Lexington pike, near Paris, has been secured for the event, and the committees in charge of the various activities are leaving nothing undone to secure the best talent and attractions for the picnic. It will be a hummer without doubt. Jot down September 4 on your memorandum, and right underneath it write: "Don't forget to go to the Community Service Picnic to-day."

EDITORIAL FLINGS

There was a young lady from Gaum Who said, "The sea is so caum. I will swim for a lark."
But she met with a shark— We will now sing the 99th psalm.

New Orleans boasts a man who can eat sixty pounds of crawfish at one sitting. Hereafter the road hog, the end-seat hog, the Berkshire hog, by comparison, will seem, ready for a back seat.

Because he was driving slowly when the steering rod broke, Curry Dedman, of Harrodsburg, is to-day a live man. This is no fable, and the moral will be, quite generally, ignored.

One good thing may be said about the coal strike—it came in the summer time. But what are we going to do this winter? Many coal dealers say if the strike should end now, they could not take care of the people's needs when the snow flies.

Domestic consumers should lay in their winter's supply of coal in August at the very least. But there was no encouragement to do that for the last four or five Augusts, and this time there won't be even a chance.

Rises in the price of hard coal will have very little interest for Paris people nowadays. The average Paris housekeeper has about as much use for hard coal as for bids on building a steam yacht to operate on Stoner creek.

O, Cinderella, lovely maid Your fame will never get the sack. Because, in innocence arrayed, You used a pumpkin for a hack; We lesser souls will fade and die— We use our pumpkins for a pie! But what awaits a sceptered might If we flim-flam our appetite?

Fight-fitting clothes of pale green, honey and delicate fawn, are to be the thing in men's clothing this fall, say the designers. Huh! We'd like to see some male biped Paris man walking down Main street or posing in front of one of the fashionable Main street cafes in one of those sartorial nightmares.

A prudent Paris girl will not get into an automobile at night with a man she does not know, and there are many wise Paris girls who will not ride in automobiles at night with men they do know. "But again," as Charlie Goodyear used to say, "there are girls who will."

The day is not far distant when the tobacco associations, Burley and dark most of all, will be confronted with a problem of a character different from any they have encountered hitherto. Beginning, as they did, with the double advantage of a small crop and low prices, they will shortly be called upon to undertake the handling and disposal of a bumper crop coming to market on a high level. That should provide a test of first-rate significance and challenge.

A Louisville paper says: "Doctor Sawyer, a small town physician, was carried into the White House when a small town editor became President." And this paper fancies it has said something smart. Thank goodness for the small towns and the country. Between them they have given us most of the Presidents, the famous doctors, lawyers, merchants, and all the public men one wants to remember. And they have also given to the world some of the greatest newspaper men. So, there's that.

Saturday night while the streets were crowded with vehicles and the pavements a throng of humanity, a Paris citizen, evidently under the influence of a drug store prescription, essayed to cross the street at the corner of Main and Eighth streets, just as a flock of sixteen new Fords, bound for Lexington, came along. To Patrolman George M. Hill, who came along, the citizen remarked: "Mr. Hill, when's this damned funeral procession going to get by?" He was sent on his way rejoicing.

BURLEY GROWERS WILL ADVERTISE THEIR PRODUCT

Directors of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association, at their regular August meeting in Lexington, decided to adopt a policy of national advertising in order to popularize Burley Tobacco, redistricted territory in which Burley Tobacco has been signed up to the Association's co-operative marketing plan and set the dates for the annual elections, candidates for delegates to be nominated at mass meetings at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of September 2, the delegates to be elected by ballot at election to be held in the courthouses of the various counties September 16, between the hours of 8 a. m. and 4 p. m. and the delegates to meet Monday, September 18, in that county in each district which delivered the largest amount of the 1921 tobacco crop to the Association on Monday, September 18, as provided by the by-laws, to select a director for each of these districts.

In the selection of delegates to the district convention each county is to be represented, though those which produced less than a million pounds will be allowed such fraction of a vote as the production in those counties bears to a million pounds of tobacco, the unit of delegate representation. Twice as many candidates are to be nominated in each county as that county may be entitled to under the call for the election and sufficient blank spaces left on each ballot for each voter to express his preference for delegates in the event he may not desire to vote for those who may be nominated at the meetings September 2.

The mass meetings are to be called to order in each of the counties by some grower designated by the president of the association and the meetings will elect their own chairmen and secretaries and will also select three officers of election, who will hold the election September 16, and certify the result to Secretary H. Lee Earley. The election will be by ballot and only the official ballot of the Association may be used, but it must be signed and can be sent by mail or voted personally or sent in by another person to be voted. Ballots sent in by mail or through some other person than the voter must reach the election officers during the hours of elections, 8 to 4 o'clock of September 16, or previous to that time.

The election is to be advertised in at least two issues of the newspapers of the Burley district previous to September 2 and the ballots are to be preserved ten days, any contests to be settled by the board of directors at the first meeting following the election. Under the new re-districting the districts are as follows:

District No. 1—Fayette county.
District No. 2—Bourbon county.
District No. 3—Shelby county.
District No. 4—Mason county.
District No. 5—Scott county.
District No. 6—State of Ohio, except Hamilton county.

District No. 12—Harrison and Pendleton counties.

District No. 16—Casey, Garrard, Jessamine, Lincoln and Pulaski.
District No. 17—Boyle and Mercer counties.

HANCOCK HORSES AT THE SARATOGA SALES

The yearling sales hit a new high average Friday night when 40 colts and fillies, most of which were consigned by Arthur B. Hancock from his Claiborne Stud in Bourbon county, and his Ellerslie Stud in Virginia, brought a total of $131,800, or an average of $3,295. It was one of the finest sales ever held in the Saratoga ring. Mr. Hancock's 25 yearlings brought $89,300, an average of $3,572. Charlton Clay consigned two yearlings which brought $8,100 and $2,300 respectively. The high price of the evening, $12,500 was paid by Monford Jones for a son of The Finn and Kate Adams. This was out of the Hancock lot. Another colt consigned by Mr. Hancock, a son of Wrack and Network, was bought by the Quincy stable for $10,600.

STATE HAS TWO USELESS OFFICES

Kentucky has two useless offices that cannot be abolished by legislative enactment. These are the janitorships of the Senate and House of the General Assembly. They are constitutional offices and are filled at every session of the Legislature, although the need of them has not existed since the erection of the new State Capitol.

Before that time the janitors of the Senate and House looked after the heating and cleaning up the two chambers, which duties now devolve upon the Capitol custodian's department and the two legislative janitors have nothing to do with the work for which they are supposed to be chosen. The Constitution limits the number of legislative employees and since the modern session of the Legislature requires additional clerical assistance, the janitors are pressed into service as bill clerks or in some other capacity.

MAY HOLD MOUND BUILDERS' SECRET

There are tales being told of curiosities found in caves and mountain resources, and many believe that the Mound Builders, when driven from their homes in the Valley of the Ohio and its tributaries sought refuge and made their last stand in what is now the Mountains of Eastern Kentucky, writes the Moulus correspondent of the Middlesboro Three States.

It has always been a puzzle—the fate of the Mound Builders, the remains of whose enormous works still cause a feeling of awe in the mind of the beholder. Who were they and what became of them? These questions have remained unanswered till now, but if all reports be true there is a possibility of these questions being answered.

It is supposed they were driven from their former homes by irruptions of fierce warriors from the North, who entered their country much after the manner of Zenghis Khan, or Timur in Asia and parts of Europe, and that the frightened mound builders—a peaceful people sought refuge amid the recesses of the Appalachians.

Strange as it may seem, the advent of prohibition is doing much to clear up these mysteries of the past. Heretofore when a mountaineer discovered a cave that had never been opened up, his first thought was, 'here's a good place for a still,' and if he did not want it for his own use, he could always swap or sell it to some neighbor who wished to get a secure hiding place for his still.

The secret then preserved and remains of past ages that would have caused the mouth of an antiquarian water grave, were destroyed or carelessly cast aside. Now with the Eighteenth Amendment an accomplished fact, locations for stills are valueless, the stills themselves being sold for old iron, and the discoverer of a new cave, in some mountain recess, will be willing to give the world the benefit of his discovery.

It is whispered that in a lately opened cave there was found, an earthen vessel, which on being opened up gave forth a rich aroma, and its contents were delightful to the palate, and possessed a strength and potency for exceeding that of alcohol.

Its finders were two young men, and after first taking a single drop of it, their senses were dulled and visions of celestial delight burst upon their enraptured vision.

Both were familiar with the effects of corn whisky, but they said that the nectar found in the jar exceeded in potency and delightful effects that of pure grain alcohol. It is thought that the receipt for its making is pictured on the jar, but the picture writing of the mound builders has as yet never been deciphered, and it will be the work of time to unveil the secrets of its preparation.

One thing the boys proved beyond the peradventure of doubt—and that was its potency. They claim that a single drop of this elixir possesses the strength of a quart of corn whisky and say that if they can only master the secret of its making the prohibition enforcers will be unable to interfere with the bootlegging ring of it, as its small bulk will enable it to be concealed beyond the possibility of education. Dilution with water is all that is necessary in order to obtain a drink of the secrets of the mound builders may add another problem to the labors of the law enforcers, or render necessary the enactment of a new law if those already enacted fail to cover this elixir of the mound builders.

A POLITE GOVERNMENT

(Baltimore Sun)
Politeness in its higher form was shown by the Chinese Cabinet of the Peking Government. Its members reconsidered their determination to resign while Secretary Denby was in Peking because they held that to cause a political crisis would be an insult to their honored guest. Not many Governments, it is to be feared, would have such tender feelings, but there is nevertheless something commendable in the Chinese attitude. A family does not stage a bitter quarrel while visitors are present, but rather puts its best foot forward in order to show how kindly are the members of the household and how considerate of each other's feelings. It is the Chinese are sufficiently philosophical to realize that much of the political rancor of the modern world is after all on a par with the unnecessary scraps that occur within an ill bred family, they may be able to teach their Western neighbors a few lessons in political politeness. A political campaign conducted with Celestial courtesy would be an interesting event.

SUBSCRIBE FOR YOUR HOME COUNTY PAPER

"Every member of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association should be a subscriber to his home newspaper. There is no person more interested in the welfare of the farmer or more likely to do everything possible to enhance that welfare than the editor of your home newspaper."

"The Burley Tobacco Grower will tell you each month what is going on in the Burley Tobacco Growers Co-operative Association. The county paper, however, will tell you every week what is going on in the county and the country, and you ought to know that. Generally the information the farmer obtains from his local paper in a week is worth the cost for the whole year."

"Subscribe for your county paper and keep your subscription paid up. You owe that much to your local civic pride, and you certainly owe it to your county editors, who have been your best friends."

PARIS A GOOD TOWN TO LIVE IN

Paris is a town of thrift, enrege and happiness. We strive here for something more than business. We strive for friendliness, one with another, which makes life worth while. We have a family circle in which every inhabitant counts one. Our motto is "One for all and all for one." And we want to play the game with our neighbors everywhere. Life is a game of brotherhood, and our town is building on that basis. Paris is a good old town to live in, despite the croakers and the knockers.

As Usual.
As usual, my monthly allowance had run short. Home went a telegram for money, as usual. Back came a check for half the amount I asked for, as usual. But I fooled them, for I had asked for twice the amount I needed, as usual.—Pennsylvania Punch Bowl.

ONE-THIRD OF HENS FOUND TO BE CULLS

Results already obtained in the poultry culling demonstrations being conducted over the State by the extension division of the College of Agriculture indicate that the annual quota of one-third of the hens in Kentucky will stop laying within the next month and loaf until spring, according to H. R. Jackson, one of the college poultrymen. The demonstrations, which are being held to show farmers and poultrymen how to distinguish between laying and non-laying hens, also show that the percentage of culls in flocks that have been fed and managed according to recommended methods during the summer is smaller than in flocks where little attention was paid to the feeding and care of the birds, Mr. Jackson added.

He conducted demonstrations on a total of 24 flocks up to the present time and handled 1,417 birds, 28 per cent of which, or 411, showed the characteristic signs that they had stopped laying. The percentage of loafers in some flocks was as high as 58 per cent, while in other flocks that had been well cared for the percentage of culls was found to be as low as eight per cent. Thirty-five birds in one poorly managed flock of 60 hens had stopped laying, while only three in another flock of 35 hens that had been well fed proved to be non-layers.

"One poultryman whose flock was culled in the demonstrations found that keeping sour skim-milk before the birds at all times and feeding them a grain feed of equal parts of corn and oats at night was a good method of keeping up the egg production of his hen," Mr. Jackson duetion of his hen," Mr. Jackson results by making a mash of ground oats and bran that was moistened with sour milk and fed during the day. He also gave them sour skim-milk to drink. On the college farm good results in egg production are obtained by keeping sour skim-milk or buttermilk before the birds at all times, and giving them a grain feed composed of seven parts of whole corn and three parts of oats. The hens are forced to drink the milk at the rate of one gallon a day for every 30 hens."

GLACIERS AT THE EQUATOR

We do not usually think of glaciers in connection with "darkest Africa," or any other part of that continent, but according to the United States Geological Survey, Department of the Interior, there are small glaciers on three of the highest mountains in Equatorial Africa—Mount Kilimanjaro, 19,321 feet high; Mount Ruwenzori, 16,800 feet high, and Mount Kenya, about 17,007 feet high. On Kebo Peak, which is a part of Mount Kilimanjaro, there is an ice cap 200 feet thick, which fills the ravines forming glaciers, several of which extend down to points 16,000 feet above sea level and one to 13,800 feet. Both Mount Ruwenzori and Mount Kenya are close to the equator, but their lowest glaciers extend down to points 12,700 and 14,460 feet, respectively. Above the Ice Age the glaciers were much larger than they are now.

PARIS MAN'S IMPRESSIONS OF HAZARD TOWN

Dr. Wm. Kenney, of Paris, who is temporarily located at Hazard, the magic city of the mountains, has evidently formed a very favorable impression of that place, as may be gathered from a letter which he recently wrote THE NEWS, as follows:

"Hazard, Ky., August 10.

"Dear NEWS:

"Have been intending writing for some time, but you know how one is in a strange town, always looking around. We are having a nice stay up here. * * * Hazard, of course, hasn't been Hazard since the railroad strike. I think it is conceded about 40 per cent normal, but improving daily.

"I find a real nice, small sized hospital here, where I get excellent service. I have seen some surgery here that I consider to have been excellently done. Hazard is certainly a very progressive little town. Of course, owing to the strike it is slowed up a great deal to what it was in May, when I was here before, but conditions at that are far in advance of Central Kentucky. I have done quite a bit of operating, and have quite a few slated for the near future. I have made arrangements for a clinic at one of the large mines for next week, and expect to see more of the country.

"The people here are very courteous and kind. Although much notoriety has been given them through the papers than other sections of the State I can see no difference here from other places. My opinion of the mountain people is that if you attend to your own personal affairs (the same the world over) the native people will attend to their own.

"The people tell me there is a 'stay' disease up here, that is, the longer you stay, the longer you want to stay. The John Fox version of 'The Little Shepherd From Kingdom Come' photoplay was in the main staged here, that is, a great many of the films were taken in and around Hazard. I talked to a native last night who said he was with the party.

"Among the prominent people here who were formerly Bourbon county residents or natives are T. E. Moore, Jr., Rogers Moore, attorneys and very prominent through the mountain section; J. Irvine Dempsey, first vice-president of the Hazard Bank and Trust Co.; 'Little Irish,' who used to be with The Alamo Theatre in Paris, and is now known as Mr. E. J. McElhiney, the sign writer and decorator; Mrs. Bailey Wooten, wife of a prominent attorney, capitalist and banker, a daughter of Mrs. Dempsey; Dan Linahan, tinner and furnace man; Mr. Harbold, druggist, formerly with Clarke & Co., in Paris, whose daughter is now a member of the Paris High School faculty; Tommie Letton is at Lothair with a large coal mining company; Miss Henry, of Carlisle, is a nurse at the hospital and a great many others who have been in or near Paris are here; Lewis Coleman, the big colored fellow who was formerly chef at the Kid Stout Cafe, seems to be one of the leading plasterers of this section; Jesse Richardson, who used to be Charlie Mitchell's man Friday in the ice cream parlor, is in a similar place with Mrs. Speed Hibler.

"Foremost of all is Mrs. L. C. Hibler, known to all in Hazard and for miles around Hazard, as well as all the traveling men as 'Ma.' She is a moving spirit in Eastern Kentucky, and I dare say that a great deal of the success of this section is due to the untiring efforts of 'Ma.' She opens up the town and closes up the town. Kind-hearted, sympathetic, and last, but not least, loyal to Hazard and Eastern Kentucky, a power in politics, her advice is sought by National, State and local politicians, and I am told that she is seldom wrong as to her advice. She is a staunch Republican, and quite a few have come up this hollow on 'North Fork of Kentucky River' to advise and consult with her.

"Teddy Roosevelt, Jr., was entertained by her during his stay here several years ago, and I am told she did honor to this or any other section in the elaborateness of her entertainment of the royal bloods of the Republican party. She is the most energetic little being you ever saw, never still a moment, in her own business affairs as well as those of Hazard. She operates the Hibler Hotel, Hibler apartments scattered all over the town, has a nice home on Broadway, has just completed a concrete street and curbing, and also operates the Hibler Coffee Shoppe, where service and both American and European bill of fare is at your disposal, and neatness, cleanliness and the very best of all that the markets afford are at the guests' pleasure. No place serves better or more bountifully. If I were to say who had any more at stake for the opening up of Eastern Kentucky than 'Ma' Hibler, I would have to say that she was 50-50 with the balance.

"Charlie was here this week and left for home last night. Frances is still cashier at the Hibler Coffee Shoppe. Bill is signing and decorating with McElhiney. Hope to be in Paris real soon. Give my best regards to all friends.

"Yours Sincerely,
"WM. KENNEY."

WAREHOUSE SECRETARY SUED FOR SLANDER

Director of Warehouses Ralph M. Barker was notified Saturday that he had been sued for $50,000 damages for slander in the Federal Court at Charleston, W. Va., by Grayson D. Thornton, West Virginia warehouseman, the suit being based on a declaration by Barker, in the presence of Mr. Thornton, that certain statements made by the warehouseman were untrue.

It is said that Mr. Thornton claimed he had letters from the Burley Association offering to buy his warehouses and that Director Barker branded any such statement with the shorter and uglier word. Mr. Barker declined to discuss the matter.

President and General Manager James C. Stone, of the association, received a telegram informing him that the Connecticut Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association had succeeded in signing up 80 per cent of the acreage grown in that State. The telegram came from J. W. Alsop, manager of the campaign.

General Counsel Aaron Sapiro will be in Lexington, August 27, to look after some legal matters for the association.

ENGLISHMAN KEEPS YOUNG READING PAPERS

Retired member of the British bar, Sir Henry Poland, hale, hearty and still interested in life at the age of 94, attributes his longevity and mental vigor largely to having always been a great newspaper reader.

He is very fond of taking long walks about London to enjoy the beauties of the city, and recently he has chafed at the rains which have kept him indoors. "Still, one can obtain excitement enough to keep young just by reading the newspapers," he says, "for we live in stirring times."

POLICEMAN REBUKES LITTLE SHIRLEY MASON

"Don't you know that little girls are not allowed on the street at this hour?" a policeman asked Shirley Mason, the William Fox star, as she wended her way home rather late at night.

Miss Mason looked at the officer with a bewitching smile and queried, "Suppose the little girl happens to be grown up?"

The officer came closer and found he was in truth addressing a petite grown-up and not a little girl. Good-naturedly, he replied: "You are a little girl, just the same; and so that no harm will come to you, I am going to see you to the end of this dark street."

Miss Mason took note of his number and wrote a letter to the police commissioner, recommending the officer for his extreme politeness. Instead of receiving promotion, however, the bluecoat received only the friendly but caustic comments of his colleagues.

In Thursday's game between Paris and Maysville on the local grounds Blakefield got the better of Miner in a pitcher's duel, Paris winning the game 3 to 2, and taking the lead in the race. Miner struck out eleven men, but did not succeed in keeping hits as well scattered as did Blakefield, and was not quite as effective with men on bases. Woods, of the Paris team, was the hitting star of the game, getting three out of three. Wunker made a brilliant barehanded catch in the first inning. Both teams played fast ball. One of the largest crowds of the season witnessed the game. Both teams played errorless ball. The batteries were: For Paris—Blakefield and Macke; for Maysville—Miner and Connolly. Goodman umpired.

Winchester defeated Paris Friday in an exhibition game played on the Winchester grounds, the score being 5 to 4. Winchester used three pitchers in downing the Mammoths, holding Paris to three hits. Errors were plentiful, Winchester being officially credited with eight and Paris three. Nippert, of the Paris team, stole home in the eighth inning. The batteries were: For Paris: Parsons and Brockman; for Winchester—Moss, Nelson. Lowry, Thoss and Gans. Goodman umpired.

The game between Mt. Sterling and Paris at Mt. Sterling Saturday resulted in a victory for the Essex team, Paris losing by the score of 5 to 3. The game was featured by erratic playing of Mt. Sterling, and superb pitching of their Indian twirler, Neyrey. Paris used twelve players in an effort to change the verdict, but to no avail, only four hits being registered off of Neyrey's delivery. The playing of Lackey and Wilbers for Mt. Sterling and the fielding of Monahan and the hitting of Wunker, for Paris, were also features. On one occasion Manahan saved two runs by a spectacular one-handed catch. The batteries were: For Paris—Blakefield, Hurst, Wills and Macke; for Mt. Sterling—Neyrey and Monk. Walls umpired.

Over twelve hundred interested spectators at League Park Sunday afternoon saw the Mammoths administer a defeat to the Mt. Sterling team by the score of 7 to 3, and slip up again to the lead in the Blue Grass League race. The game was full of thrills and thrills from beginning to finish, and clearly demonstrated what kind of ball the Paris team can play with good teamwork. Townsend and Harrison, crack members of the Mt. Sterling pitching staff, were batted hard and at opportune moments, and the good support of the Paris infield and outfield helped Wills very materially in winning the game. Wills pitched a superb game, holding the Essex team scoreless until the ninth inning, when they ran in three runs. Macke, Paris catcher, put one over the far field fence, and scored a home run. Fielding features of the game were running catches by Woods, Blake and Cicona, while slugging with the bat by outfielder Cicona, of the Paris team, and catcher Monk of Mt. Sterling, featured in the batting column. Despite the intense heat the big crowd centered their attention on the game, and watched each play with great interest. The batteries were: For Paris—Wills and Macke; for Mt. Sterling—Harrison, Townsend and Monk. Time of game, one hour and fifty-five minutes. Wells umpired.

The Clifton playground baseball team of Lexington, defeated the Paris playground team in a game played on the Lexington grounds Wednesday by a score of 17 to 3. This is the second time the teams have met, Clifton winning the other game, played on the Paris grounds. The Paris team lined up as follows: Mann, rf; Strother, ss; McMahan, 3b; Wharton, p; Reese, 1b; Myers, 2b; Maybrier, lf; Jackson, cf; Parsons, c.

The Christians defeated the Presbyterians, in the Church League game on Hancock Field, Friday afternoon, by a score of 14 to 4. The next game in the series will be played this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock between the Baptists and Christians.

"OVER THE HILL" MONDAY AND TUESDAY

The Fox photoplay, "Over the Hill," which was made from Will Carlton's celebrated "Farm Ballads" and has enjoyed such a marvelous success wherever presented—backed by an initial run of a full year on Broadway—will be seen at the Alamo Theatre and the Paris Grand, Monday and Tuesday, August 21 and 22, afternoon and evening.

William Fox, the noted picture producer, regards "Over the Hill" as his favorite over all the pictures he ever produced. At the time when it was ready for its initial screening, and before its sensational Broadway success had started, Mr. Fox issued the following interesting statement: "I have watched the development of 'Over the Hill' from the moment the first scene was written. I have watched it thoroughly the months it has been in course of production. It represents a Labor of Love. In it I take a pride which has never been exceeded—or even equalled—in all the years Fox Film Corporation has been issuing pictures."

SAYS EXTERMINATOR IS DONE RACING

"I probably will not ask him to compete again," says his owner, W. S. Kilmer. He's done all and more than can be expected of any horse."

Exterminator has the remarkable record of winning 43 times out of 83 starts.

There is only one horse in the history of the American ring with more wins than Exterminator. His last victory, the Brooklyn handicap, set his winnings above the $215,000 mark.

THE PRESBYTERIAN EDUCATIONAL CAMPAIGN

Announcement was made at a recent conference of workers in the Presbyterian movement for Christian education that the success of the campaign meant that Centre College would receive an additional $200,000 from the General Educational Board, of New York, making a total of $500,000 for the institution, inasmuch as the college will receive $300,000 from the Presbyterian fund. As a result, letters have been received at the Louisville office from graduates and former students of Centre, asking that they be allowed to help in the campaign. To such, literature and facts about the movement are being mailed, and it is expected that organizations will be perfected in practically every county in the State to assist in the work.

The first of the city campaigns opened at Jackson this week, although the actual canvass will not be held until August 24-31. At this point Lees Collegiate Institute is located and for that reason the intensive city campaign plan will be used. This will be under the supervision of S. P. Hollinrake and Paul Harris, Jr., of the city and field sections. Following the Jackson campaign headquarters will be opened up in Paris, where the actual canvass will be held September 8-14.

THE BOURBON NEWS,

The Guest.

At a London dinner party was an unconventional young fellow, fresh from an out-of-the-way village in America. His hostess, who knew his brother well, tried to make him feel at home. "I hope," she said, as they sat in the drawing room, "I do so hope this room isn't too cold for you." "Lordy," he answered, "I might have been in it for 37 years for all the icicles there are on me."—London Answers.

NEEDFUL KNOWLEDGE

Paris People Should Learn to Detect the Approach of Kidney Disease

The symptoms of kidney trouble are many. Disordered kidneys often excrete a thick, cloudy, offensive urine, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding. The back may ache, headaches and dizzy spells may occur and the victim is often weighted down by a feeling of languor and fatigue. Neglect these warnings and there is danger. Delay often proves fatal.

Joe Kieley, proprietor shoe repair shop, Eighth street, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills did me a world of good and I take pleasure in recommending them to anyone suffering from kidney complaint and my back ached most of the time. My kidneys were weak and the secretions were highly colored and contained sediment. I lost my sleep at night as there was no let up to the pain in my back. I got four boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills at Ardery's Drug Store and used them. They rid me of the trouble entirely."

HOBOS WORK STRIKES FOR FREE RIDES

Everybody may not be happy as the result of the rail strike, but according to Dr. Ben L. Reitman, vice president of the Hobo College for the migratory workers, it has proven a season of bliss. Rail officials, however, say that hobo labor would comprise a small portion only of the new men.

The migratory workers, according to Dr. Reitman, have evolved a system for beating the railroads. They sign up to work in shops at some distant point. The railroads transport them in Pullman cars, while their meals are furnished in dining cars. Arriving at this destination, the hobo works a day or two, or jumps the job and shortly is signed up with another road to work at some distant point.

In this way they keep traveling with only an occasional day or two of work to interrupt an otherwise perfect "see America first" tour.

Officials of the Burlington Route say from 90 to 95 per cent. of their new employees have stuck, that their employment methods now make it virtually impossible for a nimster to get by. Others say but few hoboes have gotten past the employment agencies.

RESTORATION

When men and women fail, Peace comes within the hermit's bower;

The world of books I hail.

And when the printed page turns cold,

When soul departs from words; My comrades rise in field and fold, 'Mid animals and birds.

But when dark memory my spirit tries,

And opens wide my scars; I lift mine eyes beyond the skies, In union with the stars.

Story of Our Flag.

From 1776 to 1783 our flag had 13 stars. In 1812 it bore 15, in the Mexican war 20, in the Civil war 34, in the Spanish war 45 and at the present time 48.

U. S. EXPLAINS $108 WARDROBE

This Sum Will Provide for Evening Gowns and Business Frocks, Says Bureau.

TELLS HOW EASY IT ALL IS

Series of Pamphlets Issued by Department of Agriculture Calculated to Reduce High Cost of Clothing.

Washington.—Uncle Sam, besides occupying himself with strikes, law enforcement and international agreements, has interested himself in woman's clothes.

How to have a wardrobe for $108 that includes dinner and evening gowns, a smart business dress, frocks of voile and tissue, gingham for summer wear and a broadcloth coat for winter winds, is explained in a series of pamphlets issued by the Department of Agriculture, as an aid in reducing the high cost of clothing. One of these pamphlets declares that the business girl with a reasonable amount of zeal and talent, can use part of her spare time to such effect that her clothing bill is cut in half.

First she must send to the Department of Agriculture for the circulars issued by the department. One of these pamphlets explains how to make a dress form by pasting layers of gummed bundle wrapping paper over a tightly fitting vest on herself, as a model. When the paper casing is cut off and fastened together she has a "light, stiff and perfect reproduction of her form." This eliminated the purchase of a store figure.

Employee Used Form.

She made for $24.61 a coat of tan broadcloth with a good lining, such as she saw priced at $50 in shops. A blue voile dress with a slip, cost, including trimming, $11.09. A tissue gingham dress, with organdie and hemstitching for trimming, cost $6.33; with scraps and a remnant she made another gingham dress for exactly 45 cents.

For $16 she bought materials to make a pussy willow taffeta and georgette crepe dress for social occasions, which she said, she could not duplicate at a store for less than $35. Her business dress of serge and crepe de chine would have been priced at $40 or more if she had purchased a dress of the same quality of material already made. Her evening dress of taffeta and silver lace cost $21, although it was modeled after one seen in a shop priced several times higher.

Attended Many Affairs.

This wardrobe, supplemented by two dresses for which materials were purchased, brought the total up to $108.34.

"This wardrobe, while not elaborate, enabled me to attend many affairs which, had I not sewed myself, I would have been unable to attend because of lack of a proper gown. Without the dress form I could not have done it in the time at my disposal. I made ten such forms for my friends, too."

PLATYPUS COMING TO AMERICA

Philadelphia.—The zoological gardens in Fairmount park are being prepared for the accommodation of a number of new guests, now on their way here from Australia. The most unusual of the shipment is a platypus, an egg-laying mammal.

The platypus will be the only one of its kind in this country, it is said. This species dies quickly in captivity and is related to the echidna, also an egg-laying mammal. However, the local gardens have exhibited one specimen of the echidna for eighteen years. This shipment is being sent by Ellis C. Joseph, Australian zoologist.

MAN, PLOWING, KILLS BEAR

Mississippi Rancher Has Chance Encounter With Vagrant From Canebrakes.

Coldwater, Miss.—A bear weighing 250 pounds was killed by Dock Lee, a farmer, living near Arkabutla in the western part of this county. Mr. Lee was plowing in his field about a mile from town when his dog encountered the bear in a thicket nearby.

Great excitement resulted in the neighborhood, as it was the first bear ever seen out of the canebrakes, the nearest of which is three miles away. This bear is supposed to have been in the vicinity of Arkabutla for some time, as his tracks had been discovered on several occasions by citizens of the community.

Hoof Shoes for Moonshiner.

Tampa, Fla.—In order to throw prohibition agents off the trail to moonshine stills, a Florida moonshiner has invented a shoe that leaves an imprint similar to that of the hoof of a cow. A. L. Allen, federal prohibition commissioner for Florida, announced recently. One of the hoof-shoes was found at a still captured near Port Tampa, Allen said, and it will be forwarded to Commissioner Blair at Washington.

A SILO IS A GREAT BIG BANK.

Every farmer in Kentucky who owns a silo can consider himself the President and Board of Directors of a first-class bank.

A bank is an institution for the secure storage of valuables; silage is valuable. A bank is a source of help in financial stress—so is a silo when feed is scarce. A bank not only keeps its patrons' funds safely but returns them with interest; so does a silo return interest, but at a rate far above that of the banks. As an investment the bank returns profits on the money put into it; as a sole stockholder in the silo the farmer will find it one of the best investments he ever made.

Kentucky is gaining steadily in dairying. The most reliable authorities state that there are 14,000 silos in the State, each with an average capacity of 100 tons. Assuming $5 per ton as the feed value of silage, the deposits in these rural banks of the State amount to about $7,000,000. There is room for at least four times as many more silos as the State possesses now. If Kentucky had 50,000 silos the resources of its farmers as represented by deposits in silo banks would be increased to $25,000,000. Here is one of the rocks on which must be built Kentucky's future success in dairying.

A silo is an indication of good farming ability. The best farmers in every locality are likely to have the best land, the best cows and the best farm plan. An Illinois survey showed that the labor income on farms with silos was $373 more than on farms without silos. Perhaps the silos were not responsible for it all, but figures talk.

Kentucky farmers are among the most progressive in the country and when both their pride and their pocket-book are concerned no one can get ahead of them. Adding $20,000,000 to the deposits in the "farmer's banks" is not too much of a job. A good start can be made on it this year.

A BILLION DOLLAR GARDEN

(Farm Life.)

We count wheat and cotton as principal crops, and yet, in 1921, they both together were barely equal in value to the vegetables grown on farms in the United States. If we add the truck grown on city and suburban lots to the "garden sass" grown on farms, we find a total value just about equal to that of the entire national corn crop. Not all of these vegetables were sold, of course, but perhaps as great a proportion of them as of the corn produced found its way to a direct cash market. So far as that is concerned, the poultry products for last census year (1919) were more than a billion dollars in value and the dairy products nearly a billion and a half. These figures are interesting because they show how extremely important the garden and the poultry yard are to the farmers of the country; but because their yield and consumption are spread over a longer period of time they are too often regarded as negligible.

Some Information.

She was an amiable old lady, and volunteered much information to the fair stranger, who had come down to see an important event in the country town—the laying of the foundation stone of the new church. "Yes," prattled the old lady, "that is the duke and duchess, and the couple behind them are the mayor and mayress, and those two on the right are the vicar and the vicar's wife."—Pearson's Weekly.

JOKER IN LAW BURDEN TO AUTO OWNERS

The poor automobile owner, whose shoulders are already round with the burden of tax placed upon him via his machine, will receive a jolt when he comes to purchase the privilege of operating his machine for the year 1934. Ears of the members of the last State Legislature will probably ring until long after the last owner has purchased his new license.

Little was said by automobile owners, as a whole, when the Legislature passed a law requiring the payments of 25 cents per horsepower machine, although the usual grumble was audible to those who took the pains of putting their ear to the ground. Members of the last Legislative organization, however, probably were not guilty of having indulged in this pastime or they would have been able to anticipate the howl which will go up in December when the automobile owners learn that, concealed in the license measure is a provision requiring each and every owner to pay, in addition to the horsepower tax, a license of 40 cents for each one hundred pound weight of his car, this to be gauged on factory weight. The law becomes effective January 1, but all automobile owners who obtain their license in December for the new year will discover at that time just what the law means to them. Owners of the light-weight cars, of course, will suffer light, but proud possessors of the big busses will be compelled to pay greatly increased licenses.

JUNK AND JUNKING

For some years press agency has made heavy inroads upon our diminishing wood pulp supply while deluging the press with inutile masses of "copy."

To paraphrase a once popular song, the pulp mills never grind timber that has passed. Reforestation never has been undertaken upon an adequate scale, and there is no general support for the sentiment of a majority of newspaper men that a majority of press agents should be lynched.

In these circumstances the disposition of a Federal Government press bureau to junk a service which proved an exception to the rule that what is poked at the press must be pushed into the waste basket raises a question.

The "Daily Digest" of the press bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture, quoting briefly what was being said about what was being done or discussed in connection with agriculture, by Congress especially, was edited by somebody who knew a hawk from a handsaw when the wind was in the right direction.

No sooner had the "Daily Digest" become a recognized medium for the distribution of information valuable to daily newspapers desiring to keep tab upon the agrarian movement than its publication was discontinued.

The bureau which discontinued it will continue to raid the wood pulp supply, along with innumerable others, burdening the mails with tons of "copy" that will be baled with other waste paper by thousands of newspapers daily.

Mysterious are the ways, and the judgments, of press agents, and the bureaus which shelter and succor them.

These are mad dog days. They may be mad over the price of horse.

SOME POLITICAL HISTORY

The recent death of W. H. (Roaring Bill) Sweeney recalls an interesting chapter of Kentucky political history in which he was a central figure in one of the most sensational and spectacular struggles ever staged in the State.

It was in the famous Music Hall Democratic State convention held in Louisville, in June, 1899, that Mr. Sweeney was put up as the Hardin candidate for temporary chairman against Judge David Redwine, the choice of the Goebel-Stone coalition. The situation was tense and excitement ran high, the final outcome depending upon the decision of Major P. P. Johnson, the State chair man, in a number of contests from counties with rival delegations claiming the right to vote in the temporary organization. The final decision of Chairman Johnson gave the coveted honor to Judge Redwine and started the riotous proceeding that lasted for over a week, during which several tragedies narrowly were averted. Mr. Sweeney never accepted his defeat for the chairmanship and the loss of the honor rankled in his bosom and changed the whole course of his life.

At the time he was the Commonwealth's Attorney of the Eleventh district but having changed his party affiliation after the Music Hall episode, he lost prestige in the Democratic district that had honored him with preferment, coming to Louisville where he had since lived to within a short time of his death. Had he won the temporary chairmanship of the memorable 1899 convention, the probabilities are that he would have been elected to Congress from the Fourth district, as he was regarded as one of the ablest men in his party with every quality to make a national lawmaker. His is another example of the failure of some to rise above a bitter personal and political disappointment.

BOUQUETS FOR THE DOCTOR

In reading the accounts in the State press it is rare to find any movement in a rural community without the active aid and co-operation of the country doctor. Usually he is the prime mover and the first to enlist in any enterprise that may be designed to promote the interests of the community he serves. No other fields as much influence or commands a larger following in the community.

Familiarly dubbed "Doc," the country doctor frequently is called upon to arbitrate differences between neighbors and discuss with his people social and business problems. Often he goes in for politics and it is in this field that his power in the community is well-nigh invincible. His views and opinions are sought in political matters and when the votes are counted most of the community is likely to be with him. Sometimes he runs for office, but in most cases he lets the other fellows do the running while he lines up the community for his choice of candidates.

For the most part he has given up his horseback riding and his saddlebags filled with medicines for an automobile, but the change increased rather than diminished his sphere of influence among the people in the rural sections of the State.

KENTUCKY IS POPULAR SPOT FOR AUTO TOURISTS

If one doubts that Kentucky is a touring ground, all one has to do is to observe automobile licenses by the score from every State in the Union, that pass through. July motor travel to this State has outstripped all previous records and there is every indication that during August, the height of the touring season, there will be an unprecedented migration of "highway fans" to points of interest in Kentucky.

Modern gypsying—with the comfortable motor replacing the lumbering, rickety camp wagon—would seem to be the coming national summer pastime, if it does not head the list in popularity already. Each year and each month brings thousands of new highway devotees to the religion of outdoors, as the homecoming auto tourists spread their stories of the delights and adventures of the open road.

INN, BELOVED BY DICKENS, OFFERED FOR SALE

It is the "clean and commodious ale-house" in the little Kent village of Cobham.

It was thither Mr. Pickwick, accompanied by the faithful Snodgrass and Winkle, followed Mr. Tupman on receipt of the plaintive letter from Mr. Tupman, which announced that he had been "deserted by a lovely and fascinating creature."

He wrote to Pickwick: "Any letter addressed to me at 'The Leather Bottle, Cobham, Kent,' will be forwarded—supposing I still exist. I hasten from the sight of the world, which has become odious to me."

SEES FORGOTTEN TRIBE

American Bird Specialist Invades Jungles of Nicaragua.

Gets Large Collection of Rare Birds, Beasts, Fish and Reptiles—Penetrates to Villages of Sumo Indians.

Philadelphia.—Wharton Huber, assistant curator of the ornithology section of the Academy of Natural Sciences, returned recently to this city from hitherto little known regions of Nicaragua, where he assembled a large collection of birds, beasts, fish and reptiles, a number of which he believes have not yet been classified.

He also claims to have penetrated to the villages of Sumo Indians, who rarely had seen a white man. The scientist's specimens include 600 birds, 40 rare mammals and 2,000 fish, reptiles and insects, all of which will be placed on exhibition in the local institution.

"My research work was done about 180 miles inland from the Nicaraguan coast," said Mr. Huber. "We established our headquarters at a small mining camp, whence we made trips farther into the country. The average annual rainfall here is 147 inches. From the time I reached the interior until I left there never was a dry article of clothing on me. The country is infected with red bugs, smaller than fleas, which burrow under the skin and inflict serious wounds.

"I went up the Prinzapolka river for 180 miles in a pitpan, an open boat made of a hollowed-out mahogany log. Then in a smaller pitpan I ascended the Banabana river to Mininda. The district is hilly and covered with tropical forests so dense that it is impossible to enter them until a way is cut by Indians.

"The only inhabitants are a few scattered tribes of Indians apparently of Spanish and Miskito Indian descent. With a body of these Indians as guides, I penetrated to certain villages of the Sumo Indians.

"The Sumo men are very skillful hunters, but the tribe is rapidly becoming extinct. With all their ability in hunting and their courage of facing wild animals, they are excessively timid of strange human beings and will run away even from members of other Indian tribes. Miskito Indians sometimes walk into their villages and take anything they want without meeting resistance. The Sumos, numbering about 500 souls all told, have the slant, almond eyes of the Chinese, and their skin is about the same color as that of a Chinaman."

Mr. Huber had with him a number of dogs, two of which were killed by jaguars. The scientist believes that fully 40 per cent of the birds and animals he shot were lost, because neither dogs nor Indians could make their way into the jungles to the point where they fell. He used dynamite to secure his fish specimens.

QUEEN MOTHER DEFIES TIME

Alexandra of Britain Active in Spite of Her 77 Years—Puts in Busy Day.

London, England.—Queen Alexandra, the queen mother, now in her seventy-eighth year, is far more active than most women of her age. She might take life far more easily than she does, but she evidently is opposed to the idea of being laid on the shelf. She likes to show herself among the people, and she is gratified by the applause with which her appearance always is greeted. Undoubtedly it acts as a sort of psychological tonic upon her and helps her to feel as young as she looks.

She crowds many activities into a day. One day recently she appeared in public at the cart-horse parade for prizes in Regent's park, then at a concert in aid of workshops for disabled soldiers and, finally, at the Richmond horse show.

She makes, however, two concessions to advancing years. She seldom goes out of an evening, and she goes to bed early, usually playing a game of "Patience" before retiring.

Cobbler Finds $100 in a Shoe.

Warsaw, Ind.—Thomas Ross, Winona Lake, placed $100 in bills and several checks inside one of his shoes for safekeeping. Then he went to Florida and forgot all about the bills and checks.

While repairing a pair of shoes for Ross, a Warsaw cobbler discovered the greenbacks and checks and turned them over to the owner.

Camping Party Uses Hearse for Bedroom

Frank Remlinger of Green Bay, Wis., and four friends, on a camping jaunt, use a hearse instead of the usual type of motor caravan. Only a few changes were necessary. Part of the glass side was replaced by board panels and a flooring was put in, dividing it into decks. Two of the party sleep "upstairs" and all supplies are carried below. Three of the party sleep in tents.

Rubber tires insure easy riding. No ghosts have been encountered so far, even when they camp next to a cemetery, and no matter how it storms, the hearse is snug.
